Body Of Work: Arts Warehouse
Brings Anatomy To Forefront In Group Show

John Thompson | March 14, 2025

There are few artistic subjects more universally relatable than the human body. Unless and until we manage to ascend into the realm of light beings, meat sacks cover all of us. Our bodies may generate anxiety or discomfort from time to time, but they also protect us from the elements and remind us, indeed, that we are human—that we are, in spite of what our current national and international schemes may argue, all one.

These are a few of the ideas that permeate throughout "The Body Show," running through April 19 at Arts Warehouse in Delray Beach. The group exhibition is, in the gallery's own verbiage, "a collection of works that collectively reference the body through visible and bold anatomical depictions in form, body, and pose, and how all of this."

This Delray Beach Community Redevelopment Agency rehabilitated warehouse is located on Artist Alley in the Pineapple Grove district opened in late 2017. Arts Warehouse is an Art space that includes studio artists, holds gallery exhibitions, visual art workshops, professional development opportunities, talks, and special events. The 15,000 sq. ft. space is a catalyst for economic development and growth within the Pineapple Grove Arts District and the community as a whole, supporting artists as small businesses.
